

THIS BOOK HAS BEEN CLASSIFIED BY THE USDAA.

(U.S. Department of Anomalous Activity)

If you are reading this and not a part of the USDAA, please incinerate, return to your local police department or shred in a Micro-Cut type shredder. Some notes may have been added to transcriptions to increase clarity.

Chapter 1: Incident 0004 Report.

[CLASS: PREDATORY/COGNITOHAZARD/ RADIATION-HAZARD.]

This report describes the scene of Incident 0004. Only agents with security clearance 5 or higher can view this document and its contents. If you are found viewing this document or publicizing it without authorization you will be fined between $1,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. Torture may be used in light of more extreme violations.

The scene shows 13.56-year-old “Nekrós” (In0004S1) entering the house at 10:32PM, analyzing the footage reveals 2 other witnesses (In0004S2-In0004S3), of which both have been cleared of any memory of In0004S1 or B0001. Documents containing In0004S1 have been seized. This includes, but is not limited to, Reports, Memories, Photos, Government Documents and more. When In0004S1 enters B0001 The Lurker uses a piece of long, black string to lock the door, something In0004S1 fails to notice. The Lurker follows by leaving messages for In0004S1 in invisible ink. It is still unknown how The Lurker obtains the ink. In0004S1 shows signs of distress and an anxiety response that commonly correlates to being in the presence of The Lurker or similar entities. The following events contain graphic detail. Only read if you are willing to view distressing material. Memory wiping is not available for this document. The Lurker kills In0004S1 by removing his teeth from his gums, causing severe damage to the oral cavity, he was found with dried blood on his gums and vomit in the oral cavity. It then snaps the spinal cord of In0004S1, immobilising In0004S1, but keeping him alive. He then eats the brain and other organs of In0004S1, our current assumption is it does this to obtain Default Mode Network Emission (DMNE) produced by the victims Prefrontal Cortex and Limbic System, our attempts to replicate the anomaly via oral transfer of neural tissue and other organ tissue have shown negligible results. Further research required to reach a conclusion. Analysis shows that In0004S1 was most likely still conscious as this was happening.

Chapter 2: New information.

[Begin audio transcript]

“I-I don’t know how to think anymore, I am just... so traumatized? I don’t know anymore, those documents you shared... I-I- can’t-!”
Says Dr. Minni, scared and confused. “Hey, hey, you’re okay... look, I know they’re not... good, but... I felt I had to show you, so I got all the permissions and clearance, and I did show it to you. You had to know the truth of what happens to the kids who are killed, and what food you’re serving them.” Replies Mr. Friggon, interrupting her. “I thought I wanted to know, but I don’t want to now...” “We could erase the memories...” “No, I need to know, I just don’t want to...”

[End audio transcript]

Chapter 3: Incident 0006 Report.

[CLASS: PREDATORY/COGNITIOHAZARD/
RADIATION-HAZARD/HUMAN-HAZARD.]

This report describes the scene of Incident 0006. Only agents with security clearance 6 or higher can view this document and its contents. If you are found viewing this document or publicizing it without authorization you will be fined between $100,000,000 and $100,000,000,000. Torture or experimentation may be used in light of more extreme violations.

This scene shows 13.89 year old “Stultus” [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] in short, [REDACTED] majorly [REDACTED] the [REDACTED]. More [REDACTED] is [REDACTED] for higher [REDACTED].

To view the full and uncensored version, please go to Dr. Igétis and request it. You need security clearance 9 or higher.

Chapter 3.5: Thank you all for coming.

[Begin audio transcript]

“Hello. Thank you all for coming” Mrs. Conners says in a cold, emotionless tone. A lanyard with the text ‘Mrs. Conners: Security Clearance 9/15’ hangs on her neck. “I have called you all here to discuss what to do with Incident 0006 Subject 1. He could be a useful asset and a useful way to subdue and control the anomalies we create here. But, he could also be a dangerous force, he shows extreme intelligence and an ability to think fast and effectively in stressful environments such as Building 0001.”

“This is insane, we cannot let a child, let alone a teenager, enter our facility! Teenagers cannot be controlled! He is going through Testosterone based puberty! That cannot mean nothing to you!” Says Mr. Thymós, anger running through his veins. A lanyard with the text ‘Mr. Thymós: Security Clearance 6/15’ hangs on his neck.

“The only thing insane here is you. Nekromantis is our biggest breakthrough since we were founded. Before it, we were investigating haunted houses that weren’t even real. We were SO close to being shut down. I- We cannot throw this all away!”

“You don’t understand-!”

Suddenly, a man in a suit and tie entered the room, everyone bows down to him. A lanyard is too on his neck, it has the text “Dr. Igétis: Security Clearance ∞/15” he opens his mouth and says. “Hello everybody. I came here to speak with Mrs. Conners about In0006S1 and how I want him in my office ASAP.”

“H-Hello, Sir. I will get In0006S1 to you ASAP. But don’t the higher-ups like the men here need to agree to such an order?”

“No. My word is law. Do not forget that. Any of you.” He says, before continuing, “So put your best face on everybody, pretend you agree with this everybody. You don’t want to end up an experiment.” He leaves without another word, or even breath.\

“I told him he needed to stop listening to AJR during work. Such a performer.” Says Mrs. Conners.

[End audio transcript]

Chapter 4: Stultus's story.

Stultus is still in shock from the lurker. "How the hell did I survive that?" He thinks. But suddenly, a figure appears, they speak up.

"Hello, I am Mrs. Connors from the USDAA. I need you to come with me."

"The USDAA? Don't you deal with haunted houses?"

"Not anymore. Come with me. I have my men surrounding the perimeter if you try to do anything funny. Do not test me."

"Uh, okay Mrs. Connors. Where are we going?"

"Headquarters"

"Where's that?"

"Virginia"

"That's.... Really far. How long have I been here?"

"From our data, 9 hours."

"WHAT! I must've frozen for that time. It feels like it's only been half an hour."

"Let's not waste anymore time, let's go"

"O-Of course!"

They arrive in front of an aircraft that looks like something from Star Wars and go inside.

"Hold onto your seat. We're going to be traveling at 0.0005% the speed of light."

"That-That's not possible, is it? I mean I'm planning to study engine—whoah!"

The craft suddenly accelerated and they arrive in just under 7 minutes, .

"We're here."

"How am I still alive? The force from that acceleration, which was like a second should've killed me."

"Don't question it. It's beyond your knowledge. Cutting edge time manipulation tech."

“That makes no sense. Time Is relative sure, but speed controls that, not tech. And what about small particles like oxygen, or dust, those could damage the aircraft!”

“Vaccums, heat shields, nitrogen blowers, magnetic fields. The usual stuff..”

“Now this just feels like a sci-fi movie.”

“You should heat about our 99.99% of light speed ship. Anyway, let’s get to Dr. Igétis office, he would love to meet you.”

“So why am I here Mrs and why is this uh, Ig-étis” He pronounces the name wrong.

“Igétis. Not whatever you said.”

“Okay.”

She Leads Stultus into the office. The office is clean, tidy and organised, the white sterile walls are lined with shelves, on those shelves is research in DMNE.

“Hello. My names Dr. Igétis, Ischyrós Igétis. But you can just call me, The Ringmaster.” I say to the boy.

“Okay, Mister- Docter, uh, Ringmaster?” The boy says.

“It has recently come to my attention you harmed The Lurker, or Nekromantis. There is a debt that needs to be settled here.”

“Uh what?!”

“This debt will be settled. With interest.”

“What do you mean by that-?”

“I am in your debt. You showed me The Lurker could be harmed! Brilliant. I can give you all the resources you may need to experiment and tinker to weaponise anomalies like him!”

“Oh, uh that makes more sense. So, um I could join you. But on one condition, I get taught about that tech on the aircraft. And I get resources and permission to work on my own projects- Wait, wait wait, does your lanyard say your security clearance is infinite?”

“Yes and Yes. Is it a deal?” I put my hand out.

“What happens if I say no? This is clearly a secretive organisation.”

“I don’t mind disposing of you”

“So I guess this was never a choice..”

“I suppose it wasn’t.”

“Fine.” Stultus shakes my hand.

Chapter 5: Research Research Research Research...

I am busy working on a high power and range near-solid-density water gun when I see The Ringmaster enter my lab.

“Hello, Stultus. How’s your advanced water gun going?”

“It’s a near-solid-density water gun and its going good, just a few quirk to iron out”

“Like what?”

“Spontaneous combustion, black hole leaks, and I have a bit of a block.”

“Quirks? Those are a bit more than just quirks! You need to unblock yourself before I pull your funding - or your right to live, boy!”

“Y-Yes sir!”

“Why even use compressed water! Why not just regular! That would be a lot cheaper!”

“W-Well, Ringmaster, it’s due to a theory I have the more water, the more damage, and compressed water has more water per cm^3 .

Water is hard to compress so that’s why we have the small black hole, to provide power,. It’s so compressed it’s almost a solid. T-That means it hits like bricks while being water.” I say, scared for my life. That “or kill me” was more like an “and kill me”.

“Sir, I-I Have a question..”

“What is it, boy?” He snaps, anger is clear in his voice.

“N-Nevermind-“

“No, you ask me it right now!”

“O-Okay, Does the President, uh Trump, know about this?”

“Yes.”

“Everything?”

“Everything.”

This revelation fills me with despair, Trump knows im being tormented, and yet he does NOTHING. NOTHING!

“O-Okay...”

“Now get back to work, boy!”

“Y-Yes sir!” I look down at my lanyard, Security Clearance: 7.5. A reminder of my eternal enslavement.

Chapter 6: An unexpected visit

It's a normal day at the lab, I've finished a working prototype of my gun, but then he arrives.

"Hello, Stultus is it? I've heard of your brilliance. Yes I have heard of your brilliance, it's brilliant." I hear a familiar voice say. One I had only heard on the TV.

"T-Trump?!"

"Yes it's me, the almighty President Trump."

"What do I owe the pleasure? Why are you here?"

"I'm here to look at your water gun. It's said to be a brilliant water gun. Great at... shooting water." He smiled at me. But I knew he knew what I knew and more. The torture, the threats. All of it, how can he smile.

"I-It's a near-solid-density water gun, actually"

"Fancy name, fancy gun, anyways, can you demonstrate it?"

"On what? A dummy?"

"No, Stultus, me, it's just water after all."

"What, uh, Mr President, that could kill you, It can penetrate skin, as I learned the hard way. And it's still a prototype." I accidentally shot myself with it in the foot, I was in the hospital for weeks, it doesn't just penetrate, it goes through decompression, letting the dirty water spread throughout your body"

"Don't question me."

"Okay, but I'll need to get the guys at legal to write a contract, putting all damages on you."

"Never mind" This scared me, was he just trying to get me trouble? Or was he lazy? Or impatient?

"So what do you want to do now?"

"Just test on those kids, they're gonna die anyway, just test on them."

"Mr. President, there are so many moral--"

"Remember what I said about not questioning me?"

"Y-Yes sir. I will need Ringmaster to sign off on it."

“That’s fine. Get it.”

We walk to Ringmasters office.

“Hello, Ringmaster. I need clearance to test the near-solid-density water gun on the kids. This was requested by President Trump.” I say, scared.

The Ringmaster stands up. “Of course, anything for trump. We’ll bring Emily over. She failed her duties anyway”.

Chapter 7: Defiance and consequence.

As Emily, a poor 9 year old girl, stands in front of me, I can't pull the trigger. So I do something risky, I press the button I added just in case this happened. The Release button, I pretend to press the trigger but really press the button, this empty's the ammo onto the ground, and releases a small amount of DMNE, used to further compress the water.

"Oh no! This will take weeks to repair!" I try to sound convincing.

"Dammit, I was looking forward to that, very unfortunate." Trump says, filling me with disgust and hatred, but I'm just happy Emilys safe.

"Maybe another time, Mr. President."

"Yes, that is very fair, Stultus, Yes, very fair, I agree Stultus.

"Maybe I'll see you around-" I notice Emily reach out to touch the DMNE.

"Wait no-!" As she touches it, I see an entity start to manifest quickly, I press the sprinkler button, but the entity is unaffected, it has gained resistance to water, probably due to exposure. The entity stares into my soul, but then looks at trump. It charges towards trump at a blistering pace, ripping him to shreds, no mercy. It doesn't even eat him. This was not hunger. This was punishment. It looks at me again, walks towards me, and pats my head, I am just so shocked at this point I freeze.

Suddenly, I hear a voice in my head, "Thank you, Stultus" The entity can communicate telepathically, this is a breakthrough!

"I'm going to call you The Protector, is that okay?" I say, wanting the creature to have a name.

It nods.

"If you want a uh, Greek name like Nekromantis Prostátis could work"

It nods again.

"Should I tell The Ringmaster about this?"

It shakes its head.

“And if I do?”

It just looks at Trump, and then looks at me.

“Right. Fair enough, but, I’d recommend leaving, with Emily. The Ringmaster will try and capture you.”

It seems to agree.

“Can I tell The Ringmaster about you after you leave? If I don’t tell him he’ll kill me. I’ll give you time to get far away.”

It takes a second to think, but then nods in agreement.

Chapter 8: Aftermath.

“What!” The Ringmaster says. “You expect me to calm down after I’m told a child has created a new anomaly, and has fled the facility!” He continues, his blood boiling with rage.

“Well... yes?” I reply

“Well you’re wrong! We need Mrs. Connors on this right now!”

“Also sir...”

“What!?”

“I tried to fight it. But its immune to water.”

“So, an anomaly is immune to water... AND THAT IS NOT THE FIRST F—ING THING YOU TOLD ME! YOU’RE USELESS!”

“I-I’m sorry-”

“Just leave my office boy.”

“Y-yes sir.”

“Be grateful I need your mind.”

I leave his office, heart beating at ∞ BPM. What did he mean by needing “my mind”? Is he referring to my engineering or DMNE? I hope it's not the latter. That would mean i would be killed to extract it.

Chapter 9: 4 days later...

“Ringmaster, you said you wanted to see me?” I said to The Ringmaster.

“Ah, yes. We’re selling you Stultus.” Replied The Ringmaster

“W-What!? To who!?” I exclaimed, I’m not some slave to be sold to the highest bidder!

“To the United States Army, they want you for the.. what did they call it... oh yes, their antimatter bomb project.” He said, as if such things were normal.

“No, that cant be... antimatter cannot be mass produced, the highest humanity has ever produced at once is less than a nanogram...”

“That is where you are wrong, the military has been testing for years as I’ve been told.”

“Still... its not possible. And even if it was, I would never do it. Sure I could be famous, but its so unsafe. One enemy attack on the containment unit and there goes an entire base.”

“You have no choice, Stultus.”

“I am not some f■■ing slave to be sold to the highest bidder!”

“You cannot use that language around here. And you are.”

“Fine. Send me to the army. I want to tell them that this is a suicide mission!”

“Good. At least you’re going. It’s important to say they’re renting you for a few weeks. Not taking you completely”

I take a sigh of relief, I didn’t like the USDAA or the US Army, but the USDAA has no antimatter and therefore is safer.

“Okay Ringmaster.”

“Also, do you have any info on Emily’s Anomaly?” He says inquisitively.

“I’ve already told all the information to Dr. Zeggs so he could write a proper report. Wait for that Ringmaster.”

“Fine” He replied.

Chapter 10: Stultus's Anti-Antimatter campaign.

I arrive at the military base, Camp Peary it is called, not too far from the USDAA headquarters, I see a man with a lot of military badges on his blazer walk up to me.

"Hello. You must be Stultus."

"Yes I am, uh, what's your name?"

"Classified. Call me Sir."

"Okay Sir."

"You're here to work on our antimatter project."

"About that, how are you storing this antimatter?"

"Electromagnetic traps, of course."

"And how do you store those?"

"In these big metal boxes. 20 electromagnetic traps per one. Why?"

"Just seeing if you were stupid." I mutter. "Anyway," I continue

"How much antimatter is in each trap?"

"1-2 grams."

"You? That's insanely dangerous! If one of those broke it would destroy the base! The chain reaction would be so deadly, you wouldn't even see the flash! You imbeciles!"

"You do not speak to him that way Stultus!" Said the Ringmaster all of a sudden, deciding to join in.

"NO! He's a big airhead! 40g of antimatter is like a hydrogen bomb! And that's being generous! I want no part in this!" I retorted, anger filling me up to the brim.

"Too bad. This isn't a choice." Said Sir. "Dr Igétis here said he doesn't mind feeding you to Nekromantis, whatever that is." He continued, I felt a sense of dread fill me, a chill run up my spine, my heart accelerating.

"He-He wouldn't! That's... I know he's a sick b[redacted]ard but he's not that cold...right?" I take a second to breathe. "I'll do your work." If I'm being forced, I'm going to go out with a bang. I'll make them realise the errors of their ways. One way or another.

Chapter 11: Meeting

I sit backstage, it has been 3 days since I arrived here, I'm soon going to be called out to do a talk. After all of that, that's when I'll strike. In my hand is 30 nanograms of antimatter, enough to cause damage. About 5 sticks of dynamite. I'll give it to Sir. Cut the wire. Boom. He'll die. And so will Ringmaster, who is next to him.

"Stultus! Come out!"

That's my cue.

"Hello everybody, thank you all for coming! It's been one hell of a ride! Here we go. This here 30 nanograms of antimatter I have been given to show you. This is very dangerous, if this were slightly damaged, it would be equivalent to 5 sticks of dynamite in my hand, exploding. This antimatter is worth around 2 trillion with a t dollars. That's a lot of money." I notice some weird devices underneath Sir and Ringmaster, but pay no attention

"So, what is that big cable attached to it?" A person in the back row asks.

"That powers the magnetic field which stops the matter-antimatter reaction. Anyway, if we had even just 40 grams of this, it would be as powerful as a hydrogen bomb! And we have 320 grams. As I said its been a hell of a ride. But I'm thinking its time to grow." I hand the antimatter to Sir, as he wanted me to do. I walk back onto stage, and feel the scissors still in my pocket. Go time.

"Lets go out with a bang!" I cut the wire, this specific capsule had no backup battery, I jump behind the table on its side I had placed earlier. Boom. The entire front row is blasted into smithereens.

Except Ringmaster and Sir. They were gone. But there was no blood or bodies or torn clothes. Nothing. I see the devices again. Hard Light Hologram Projectors I had personally worked on. I should've paid more attention. They were never here. I killed innocents for nothing. They did nothing. They knew nothing. And they died for nothing. And I'm going to pay the price for this. And rightfully so. F██k. As I stand up, I notice some DMNE floating around after the death of them. Odd. You can only see DMNE if you are in high amounts yourself. Unless... I start grabbing it all, I start to use my imagination to create a new being, similar to The Protector, but not quite the same. It has pale skin, but razor sharp teeth, it has real eyes and a real mouth, unlike Nekromantis. The others, originally frozen in shock, scream in terror at the sight of the creature and run out. I can- well maybe can use it to revive them. There's no certainty, but if Nekromantis knew it could revive its dead friend, undo its mistake. Maybe mine can undo my mistake. There's data to back this up.

Not much, mostly unsubstantiated. But even if there's a 0.1% chance that this works. Hell, even a 0.000001% chance. That's enough to try. That's what science is about after all. Testing theories. No matter how odd. As long as there is even one tiny bit of evidence to support it.

Maybe this can help Nekromantis too.

Maybe even Thýma,

Maybe even my friend, Negrós. I may not remember him due to the USDAA's brainwashing tech. But I know he's real. The case files tell me that much.

Chapter 12: Consequence

“You have made me VERY angry Stultus. I am very disappointed with you. You are a failure, an embarrassment to our country!” Ringmaster says, his voice only a bit less calm than usual, but his fists are clenched, and red.

“My name is Kakó Vlása now,” I reply “I changed it.”. I hid my anomaly ready for the plan, the soldiers have been buried. And I know where.

“Fine, Kakó Vlása, stupid name, but accurate. You flaming pile of shit. You are so lucky we need you, or you’d be an experiment. You do not try and kill me! I made you, without me you’d just be a kid. I made you something more. And you spit in my face.”

“I-I’m sorry Ringmaster-“

“Are you?” He interrupts. “Are you really? Because quite frankly. I don’t believe you, ‘Kakó Vlása’. You are pathetic. A miserable failure. You can’t even make a good name. Let alone a good assassination plan. You can’t do anything right but be a slave for us. You will always be our puppet. There is nothing you can do. Am I correct?” I stay silent. “AM I CORRECT?” He says, grabbing my shirt.

“...Yes Ringmaster.” I reply, scared for my life.

“Good boy.” He says degradingly. “Now, get back onto that antimatter project, and do not disappoint me. Because if you try and pull a stunt like that again...” He says, his voice low and gravelly.

“There won’t be a soul left inside you to do it again. And your family won’t be around to care.” He continues with the same horrifying voice.

“Yes, Ringmaster... And my real family is already dead. I’m-I was adopted” I say, fearful for my life.

“Aw,” he retorts, “that must suck for you.” He continues, sounding - and looking - a bit manic.

“Ha...” I say, this psychological torture starting to get to me.

Chapter 12.5: Meeting

I am pacing in the meeting room in front of other high level employees. “We are running out of time! The new administration will come in months and we have no evidence that we should be kept running! We need ideas people!”

‘Well, uh, Ringmaster, we could start selling our inventions and paying the government, then they would-“ Dr Thymós tries to say, but I interrupt him

“That is... the most STUPID idea I have ever heard. The people think we are just haunted house investigators, if we start selling weapons we will be compromising the secrecy we rely on!”

“But sir-“ Dr Thymós tries to say.

“No buts. This meetings over. You are all imbeciles. My plan will work fine for now. Stultus will save us. I hope.” I say, fists clenched, I mutter that last part.

“We literally just got here Ringmaster-“

“I do not care.”

Chapter 13: Back to base

I enter the base, this time I'm surrounded by armed guards, ready to shoot me if I do anything funny.

This was not going to plan.

"Ha... Am I going crazy? Would I even be able to know? Am I back to where I started a week ago?" I say, my words slurring a bit. My eyes were bloodshot and my eyelids heavy as rocks.

"Shut it, boy. I don't have the time to care about you right now. I need to repair my meeting room." Sir says, his patience thin as paper.

"Yes, Sir..."